Introduction

THIS, the thirteenth edition of the BACKLOG, compiled and published through hard and co-operative labors, is yours. It has been the purpose of the 1935-36 class to present to you an attractive epitome representative of this institution of learning; an institution worthy of our pride because of its past, characterized by brilliant leadership and consecrated service to man; worthy of our pride and respect because of its determined efforts toward a more effulgent future.

We hope that in future years you may gaze with mind's eye into the smoldering flames of this, our BACKLOG, grasping in the warm breath of those flames something of the atmosphere of love, friendship, and service which now pervades our campus, penetrating and enriching our very souls.

Adding ecstasy to the glowing embers, we have sprinkled a little spice which in years to come may rise as incense to our unremembering minds, bringing to us in sweet, beautiful, translucent dreams the delightful scenes, the dear friends, the beloved traditions, and happy memories of our life at David Lipscomb College.

We have endeavored to record, as faithfully and as diligently as possible, the glorious memories of our joys, victories, and happiness, and to perpetuate these memories for those of us who must, with regret, sever the ties that bind us to this campus, and take the positions of womanhood and manhood in this great game of life, having the BACKLOG as our only consolation during our extended absence.

Dedication

To the alumni of David Lipscomb College—to the future “exes” as well as to those thousands of foster sons and daughters who are already carrying the spirit and ideals of this institution into practically every one of the United States and even into several foreign countries—to these do we, the staff, dedicate the '36 BACKLOG.

To that loyal group who attended the old Nashville Bible School on its various campuses, who knew and loved David Lipscomb, we express appreciation for their continued interest and willing co-operation. With pride in our hearts we tell you that even in this modern age the great principles taught by our founders are still embodied in the lives of the teachers and students. More than one-half of the present faculty members are alumni, and several are graduates of the Nashville Bible School.

We dedicate it also to those disciples of Lipscomb who show their love and appreciation for their school and its great principles of Christian education by sending to us fine boys and girls who carry on this great work and, in turn, pledge their loyalty to the institution. At present more than ten per cent of the student body is made up of children of alumni, and a very large number have enrolled because of the influence of these faithful supporters. Such assistance is one of the greatest contributions that can be given to the progress of David Lipscomb College.

To the present alumni association and Alonzo Williams, its president, you have done much in bringing together and uniting former students for better service. With an alumni office and permanent secretary established on the campus, projects are better organized and plans more definitely carried out. Data on the former students can be found at a moment's notice by looking into the newly arranged files. The new alumni employment office places and recommends "exes" for various positions. All in all, the great work is growing, and we are facing better times.

To the future alumni we say: "Take up the slogan, 'a united alumni for our Alma Mater,' and put forth every effort to keep this spirit alive. Preach the value of Christian education as it is taught at Lipscomb. Support the great projects and plans of the administration. Attend the annual alumni meetings and add to their success. In short, love your school, prove it by work, preach it to all, and then watch it grow!"

To all alumni everywhere, Lipscomb needs you! Its future rests upon you! Few other schools in this country depend upon the support of its former students as does our school. As yet, we have no endowment, our debts are not fully paid, and no expansion program can be undertaken without the knowledge that former students are backing it wholeheartedly. So now, it's up to you!

DEAR BACKLOG FOLK:

Let me urge you, in imagination, to draw nearer the fireside in a more intimate circle of remembrance and appreciation. The 1936 BACKLOG staff has worked with fine spirit to produce a book worthy of the Lipscomb spirit and the best campus traditions. For this work well done we can best show our appreciation by a greater measure of intimate friendliness and warm-hearted comradery. So I entreat you now and always when you open this book let it mean to you a glad reunion of classmates and friends, gathered in the cozy warmth of the BACKLOG glow of remembrance and love.

In the old days when martyrs were tossed to the lions, it is said that an intended victim threw his arms around the lion's neck and whispered an earnest and kindly message in his ear. As a result, it is said, the beast was first angry, then so frightened that he ran away. Asked by a startled crowd what he had done to frighten the lion away, the Christian said, "I said to him, 'Do not forget that after the banquet the speaking begins.'"

In the arena of life when time, or distance, or "corroding care" threatens to take away your Lipscomb memories and rob you of friendships formed here, the truest friendships, banish these foes with the BACKLOG. Gaze again upon its pages and summon the memories, joys, the friends of other days and lift the might of present burdens and illumine the way that leads to life.

Hold on to your BACKLOG and all its treasures. It in turn will warm your heart, brighten your pathway, and suggest some grace for every experience. Draw near the BACKLOG circle and live near its traditions.

Dean of Administration, N. L. Parks

DEAR STUDENTS:

Perhaps I should give you a lecture short, "to realize the opportunities about you," or use these 250 words to exhort you to be bold and never let the evil one rout you, or remind you that "heights of great men reached and kept were not attained by sudden flight," and that "men may rise on stepping stones of their dead selves" to a greater height. Perhaps I could coat a moral with a story bright—like "Big Jim Browning and His Empty World," or advise you in phrases now worn and trite to "press on to success" with your banners unfurled. Perhaps I—I know what you're thinking! Don't say it—perhaps I could (how I long to!), but I won't. No cheering, please! There'll be more chapels and classes, so I'll delay it till next year—my favorite "This Do and That Don't." Perhaps I could with poetry nice—What's that? You say you don't know which is worse, my cantankerous, insipid advice, or my ill-made doggerel verse?

Then, I'll give you neither—just my good wishes and the hope that when you leave the campus in June you will take with you the memories of your finest and richest school year thus far and the consciousness of being wiser and nobler, and more willing and better prepared to lose yourselves in great causes for man and for God. And now, pray with me in the Master's name that our common faith in God and the certain triumph of his benevolent purpose may save us daily, that we may find that balance and harmony of life which we need, and that we may never cease to cherish the true values by which men live. Amen.

P. M. Walker, Dean of Students

MY FRIENDS:

Jesus came in his gentleness with his divine compassion and great Gospel of Peace. Men hailed him as the "Word of God," and by the titles of "Jesus," "Christ," "Savior," crowned him with love beyond all of earth's great names. He, wandering, unarmed, save with the Spirit's flame, in a few years with a small band of loyal followers founded an empire more vast than Napoleon's and more enduring. His kingdom is God's kingdom, and his holy temple is not built by men in Athens or Rome, but in the heart of man. They who keep his commandments call him Master and Lord, and they in turn are called children of the Most High God.

The great light shineth in great darkness and is not apprehended. The seed by the wayside have been trodden under foot; that which fell on the rock is withered; but that which fell in good ground beareth fruit which is a blessing to mankind.

Jesus' greatness was his consecration and devotion to a cause. He pursued his mission with unflinching purpose, pointing men to a fuller and better life, one made beautiful in service to his fellow man, pointing us to the way of true greatness and bidding us to follow in his footsteps.

True greatness is shown in the life of Jesus. May each of you ever be true to your convictions and live in "the way, the truth, and the light."

Your friend,

P. M. WALKER.

Board of All-Student's Association

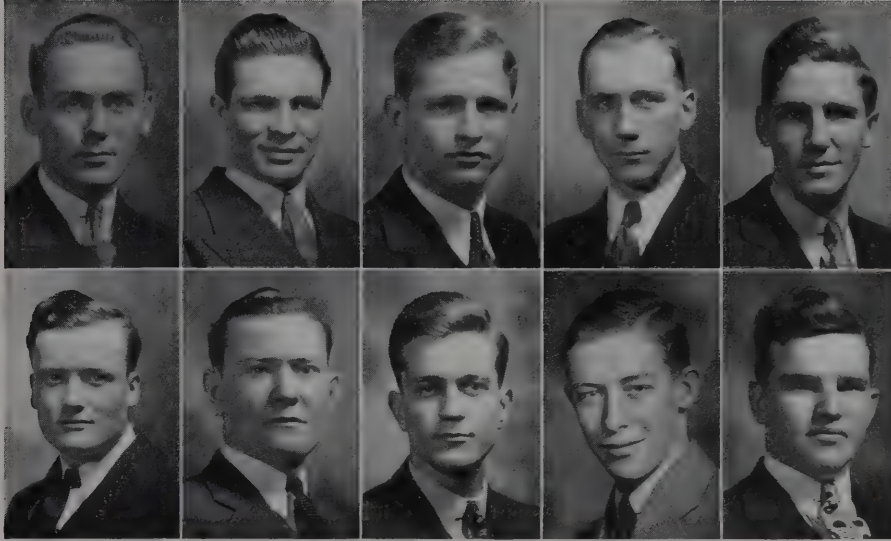

ALTHOUGH plans for the organization of an "All-Student's Association" had been materializing for some time, it was not until January 15 of this year that they were perfected, and the first president of the student body was elected, Willard Collins.

The association is guided by a board composed of ten campus leaders. With Collins as chairman, this group consists of Warren Stough, president of the Senior Class; Warren Morris, president of the Freshman Class; Frances Keats, secretary of the Senior Class; Mary Ellen Evans, editor of the Babbler; Carl Spain, editor of the BACKLOG; James Roy, president of the Boys' Council; Erin Hanlin, secretary of the Girls' Council; Claude Harris and Alberta Mitchell, president and secretary of the Day Students' Club.

The All-Student's Association does not purpose to compete with other organizations on the campus. Instead, it proposes to be a medium between the college clubs and the faculty. Plans for activities and entertainments for the year were submitted to the students' board, who, in turn, gave them to the proper faculty committee.

This group also sponsored the major elections of the year, the annual Who's Who Contest and the May Queen. It established a student's fund and purchased an all-student's medal for the most outstanding student on the campus, and an all-student's banner, which was presented to the most active club.

The All-Student's Association, of which only the nucleus was established this year, promises to be the most powerful organization on the Lipscomb campus in the future.

THE Student Council of Elam Hall is an organization of ten boys who live in Elam Hall. The aim and purpose of the Council is to co-operate with the administration and with the boarding boys in order to promote better living conditions in their dormitory, to encourage worthy ideals, to help correct objectionable practices, and to plan and provide programs and entertainments for the boys. Each student has the privilege of bringing before the Council at any time any problem of individual or group welfare. Everyone is encouraged to be considerate of others by observing all social regulations of the dormitory and other rules of proper conduct. The members of the Council are expected to be not policemen but examples in ideals and character, that they may be able to help new students adapt themselves to their new environment, and to help all to work together in a harmonious group as a social unit.

The Council is now so organized that its members are elected by the boarding boys to serve one year, three members being elected at the end of each quarter. New members for the coming year will be elected from the present Junior Class and the Junior Class of next year.

Officers of the Council are elected by the Council from its members. During the first quarter of the present year Willard Collins served as president, but upon his resignation, he was succeeded by Jimmie Roy.

ESTABLISHED in the year 1935-36, the Girls' Advisory Council has set forth as its prime purpose to aid Lipscomb girls in reaching a larger life through self-control in their daily lives, through co-operation in school government, and through unselfish services to others. In striving for this goal the girls realize that the two years spent at Lipscomb are, contrary to the usual way of thinking, not preparation for life but life itself.

Dormitory life accustoms girls to group life, and with it come added responsibilities. Through the medium of the Council they are helped to live more intelligently and to make choices comparable to those made in world government. After aiding in a measure to get the girls satisfactorily established in their new surroundings the Council strives to stabilize their ideals.

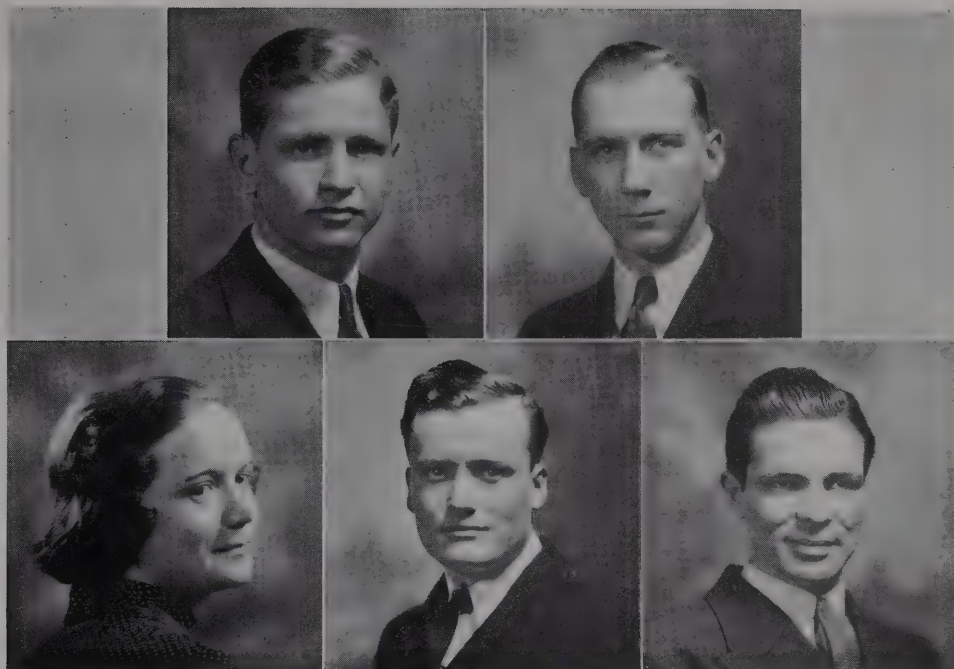

New members of the Advisory Council, elected by the old members, are chosen according to scholarship, personality, and leadership. In this way it becomes a cross section of students who can voice various wants and needs of the different girls.

Any form of student government stimulates students not only to be their best selves but also to grow into finer characters through the development of personality and leadership, not through individual and selfish actions, but through social co-operation. The realization that one is submerged in a social group to which individual contributions must be added as a representative stimulates one to push on to the highest known form of social co-operation—democracy.

themselves . . ."*—NEHEMIAH 4: 17

THE class has had for its purpose this year to create a lasting spirit of love and fellowship among the students and between students and faculty members. The class co-operated one hundred per cent with the David Lipscomb College drive by donating as a unit an appreciable sum.

The project toward which the class has been working throughout the year was to aid in equipping the C. E. W. Dorris pressroom. Brother Charles R. Brewer has been a source of inspiration to the class in his untiring efforts and increased interest in the class.

THE Freshman Class met in Harding Hall Monday, October 21, 1935, for the election of class officers. The above listed were selected to lead in the class administration. Brother P. M. Walker was selected to sponsor the class during the year. His wholehearted co-operation, as well as his unceasing efforts in behalf of the class, has been a source of encouragement to the students.

As is customary, the class sponsored the annual banquet in honor of the Seniors. The occasion was unique in style and arrangement, and was truly one of the gala occasions of the year.

With unified efforts and a spirit of co-operation seldom surpassed, the class established a record. Such a class is a benefit to David Lipscomb College. We are looking forward to its return in September.

A SCHOOL in which the Bible shall be taught as a regular daily study! That is the chief aim of David Lipscomb College in the field of Christian education. The phrase is taken from the deed given by David Lipscomb, Sr., and Margaret Lipscomb to the Nashville Bible School, and upon that phrase David Lipscomb College has established its ideal of educational service to our young people.

David Lipscomb College is the supplement of the Christian home. Its whole life has harmonized with the aims, ideals, and principles of Christian living, and it has sought to inculcate in the boys and girls who enter its halls the old-fashioned virtues, honesty, righteousness, and faith upon which civilization must stand.

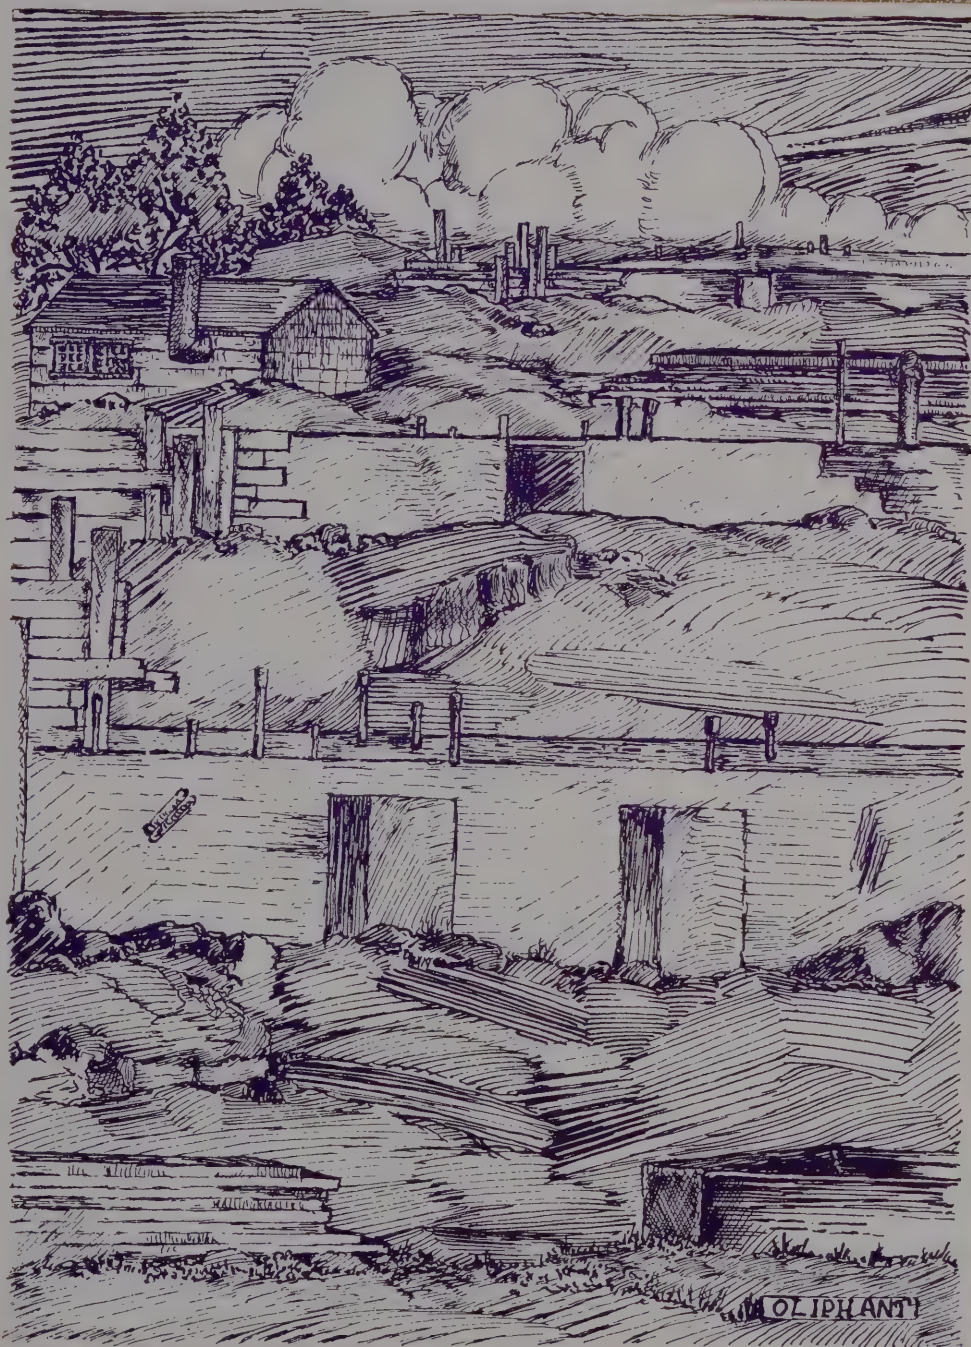

David Lipscomb College does not go in for "isms"; or the "new deals" in morals, nor for revolutionary ideas and "strange gods" which in certain places are turning order into chaos; it seeks to teach the fundamental truths.

And now David Lipscomb College faces this situation: As a result of disastrous fires and a shrinkage in the value of securities which formed the basis of its endowment fund, its income has been drastically reduced, and it has had to bear a strangling burden of interest and debt.

David Lipscomb College always has served indirectly the best interests of the church. As an institution of learning in which the Bible has been, in a sense, the major textbook, it has sought to carry out the aims of its founders in the advancement of the cause of Christian education.

David Lipscomb College, at this time, appeals not to the congregations as such, but rather to those individual Christians who, we feel sure, are willing and anxious to support the school—their school—in laying the foundation for greater service in the days to come.

"So we built the wall . . . for the people had a mind to work."—

THE Girls' Pep Squad is a group of girls organized to promote good spirit and clean, wholesome interest in athletics. The members are chosen on a basis of school spirit, enthusiasm, scholarship, and general popularity. To be a Pepette is one of the outstanding honors desired by every girl attending David Lipscomb College.

Each year there are thirty-seven girls who have the privilege of accompanying the athletes on their major trips. These girls truly represent Lipscomb in genial beauty, pep, and loyalty to their team.

In addition to the group of thirty-seven girls chosen from high school and college there is always a mascot, without which no group of this kind would be complete. This mascot is chosen by the group as a whole.

The major purpose of the Pep Squad is to create good, clean sportsmanship in our players and students and to give the team a good boost from the side lines. Thus all participants are united closely into one large body of coworkers.

WORKER'S CLUB

THIS year's work has been very pleasant and profitable to me, and I trust that you have been benefited also. We have had some problems, but we have solved them together like men. One of the encouraging things this year has been the resolute efforts of several of the boys and girls who have been in our club. In spite of the lack of funds, responsibilities at home, and sickness, they have gone right on doing their classwork and working six or eight hours a day with perfect confidence in the future.

May you who are graduating feel assured that, whatever you do, work is honorable. Too many people are seeking places today that have little work connected with them. You are being educated so that you will be able to do more work competently. No man is more valuable than his ability and willingness to work effectively with and for others.

May you who will be here another year enjoy your needed vacation and come back in September to do the best you have ever done. It is my part to supply you with the working conditions with which you will come in contact when you leave school and go out into the world. If I have been helpful in this respect, I am glad and feel that all my efforts have not been in vain.

CAMPUS PERSONALITIES

By vote of the entire student body at activity period Monday, March 23, the 1936 Who's Who Contest climaxed with the election of the six outstanding students of the campus.

The final count recorded the election as follows:

BENNIE LEE FUDGE.....	Most intellectual boy
MABEL CHRISTINE CHAMBERS.....	Most intellectual girl
SEABORN KENNAMER.....	Most handsome boy
ROBERT PORTER.....	Most popular boy
LOUISE WALKER.....	Most popular girl
ROBERT VANN.....	Best athlete

James Tolle ran Bennie Lee Fudge a close race for most intellectual boy. Ballots cast for Mabel Christine Chambers elected her as Lipscomb's most intellectual girl with an overwhelming majority of votes. Seaborn Kennamer was elected most handsome boy by a large majority of votes. Robert Porter, most popular boy, was run a close race by Howard Edwards. Louise Walker was voted most popular with Erin Hanlin as runner-up. Best athlete honors went to Robert Vann with a decisive number of votes.

CHAPEL

SOMEONE has said, "Worship is like a breathing spell in a long and arduous foot race, or an hour of roll call in a prolonged and hard-fought battle—it is altogether indispensable to sane and wholesome living—it is important enough to warrant the erection of classical temples and Gothic cathedrals. It is indeed so important that one finds oneself wondering how any of us can afford to do anything but educate ourselves in this art."

To be effectively a Christian and thereby to help others to be Christians is the sum of the abiding satisfaction of life. Worship in the true sense is as natural and necessary to the spiritual life as is food and drink to physical. In the great Christian community all mature men worship.

Since worship is so important, a period has been set aside when students and faculty pause from their routine duties to draw near to all that is supremely worthwhile; that they may praise and invoke the blessings of their Divine Maker. This period of Christian fellowship is the high light of the day's work. It is a time when many catch a vision of a better and nobler way of living.

Jesus often retired from the arduous task of his preaching that he might draw near to God in quietude and be refreshed to face the multitudes that thronged him seeking the words of life. So we pause in the day's activities that we may rededicate our lives to all that is best.

It is here that the spirit of Christian brotherhood, the true spirit of David Lipscomb College, reigns supreme.

THE Beta Kappa Nu Club, a girls' social group, was organized in the fall of 1932. The club consists of twelve dormitory girls. At the beginning of each school year new members are elected by old members.

The club sponsored three major functions during the past year. Old members entertained new members and dates with a Thanksgiving dinner party at the Noel Hotel on November 26. On January 22 the club had a dinner at the James Robertson Hotel, followed by a theater party. Then as the final get-together, the old members were given a farewell luncheon by the new girls at the Andrew Jackson Hotel on May 31, where plans for the next year were discussed and officers for '36-'37 were elected.

PREACHER'S CLUB

DAVID LIPSCOMB COLLEGE is primarily dedicated to the teaching of the Bible as the Word of God to man. Our intent is to weave these divine instructions into the fabric of usual college curricula, producing thereby a well-rounded and complete personality. By this means the potentialities of each individual student can be developed. Such a program will necessarily lead to the more abundant life.

Among her illustrious alumni in practically every walk of life there are none of whom Lipscomb is more proud than those who have devoted and are devoting their lives to preaching the gospel. These have carried a living sample of the Spirit, from which our school draws its spirit, to every corner of the nation and across the seas.

While at no time limiting her work to training young men for the ministry, Lipscomb has given every encouragement to those who desire to prepare themselves to preach. We recognize the formidable opposition that young men must face, and therefore feel that they should be equipped with every available weapon. To this end the boys who plan to spend their lives proclaiming God's Word are given special attention and training in addition to the regular Bible courses. The entire faculty of the Bible department has helped in this work, and their efforts have been supplemented by Brother John T. Hinds and Brother J. P. Sanders. An even more thorough program is being planned for 1936-37.

PUBLISHED weekly during the entire year of 1935-36, the Babbler has served as a voice of Lipscomb. The paper is a product of the Press Club, an organization the purpose of which is to promote better self-expression by actual writing under supervision.

The Babbler annually competes with other college newspapers in the contest held by the Tennessee College Press Association. The paper also sponsors a class edition contest in the high school and college each year. Class editions are judged and from their staffs future Babbler writers are often selected.

Lipscomb has the distinction of having the only college publication in the state which is published on its own press. It was from the co-operative efforts of Dean N. L. Parks and E. B. Woodroof that the present pressroom and equipment were installed.

The Press Club elects the editor and associate editor each year. The remainder of the staff is chosen on the individual merit of various students who are interested in the writing, printing, or business management of the paper. Through contests, criticism, and supervision these young journalists strive not only to improve the paper but to improve individually in this great medium of expression.

THE BACKLOG, which is the annual publication of David Lipscomb College, is presented to the students at the close of each school term as a pictorial resume of their life at the school during the preceding nine months.

Following the usual procedure, the Senior Class met and selected six students, and from these the faculty selected two, as editor and business manager, to lead in the publication of the book. The other four were to serve somewhat as an advisory board.

The staff members were chosen by the editor and business manager. Students who were interested in the publication and who were outstanding for their executive ability were chosen for the positions.

Under the co-operative supervision of Dean N. L. Parks and P. M. Walker the staff has accomplished great things—things which, because of the close confinement of such work, are not fully disclosed to the casual observer.

David Lipscomb College is not a large institution, neither is it a wealthy one. Keeping this fact in mind, the staff has not attempted to present a large and expensive annual. But David Lipscomb College is growing in strength and number of students. To future BACKLOG staffs: As your Alma Mater grows and improves, may your annual be augmented and bettered in accordance with the improvement of the institution.

PRESS CLUB

THE Press Club, one of the most active clubs on the campus, was formed to facilitate the publication of the Babbler, and to arouse more interest in the paper among the students. The club, including the business staff and the editorial staff, insures co-operation without friction.

At weekly meetings on each Friday the faculty adviser, Dean N. L. Parks, discusses and criticizes the paper of the preceding day. Frequently at this meeting an outstanding speaker, such as J. P. Priest, managing editor of The Nashville Tennessean, addresses the staff members, giving pointers for better journalism.

This year under the leadership of Willard Collins, president, the club sponsored the Louisville basketball game held in the Burton Gym and made more than $100. This money was given toward the fund for the purchasing of a new press, because the old press on which the Babbler is regularly printed needs to be replaced.

Besides President Collins, other officers of the Press Club this year are Ruth Rutledge, vice president, and Erin Hanlin, secretary-treasurer.

New members are admitted to the club at the end of each quarter, at which time the initiation and membership pins are given to each new member. The requirements for admittance are 50 inches published in the Babbler or 36 hours spent on the business staff. The most important social of the year, an annual function, is the banquet held at the end of the first quarter.

The awarding of an L to those members who have had 400 inches published in the paper during the year or who have worked 250 hours on the business staff is the climax of the journalistic year. David Lipscomb's club is the only college press club in Tennessee, and Lipscomb feels that it is worth much to its campus.

DRAMATIC CLUB

THE aim of this department is to prepare men and women for all vocations in which the spoken word is significant; to arouse an interest in the dignity and purity of speech; and to establish right vocal interpretation of literature. This work must be accomplished through scientific training of mind, voice, and body, which stimulates self-confidence, leadership, and creative power. Emphasis is placed upon the study of the voice, its causes, and conditions. Every effort is made to eradicate all local dialects and speech defects. All faults in vocal expression are traced directly back to the mind and corrected through thinking.

The department trains interpreters of literature in the classroom and on the platform, and furnishes opportunities for culture and self-improvement to people in all professions. To meet the needs of various people, courses from three to four are offered in public speaking, public reading, method of teaching, expression, dramatic art, platform art, and general culture.

*"Ah, to build, to build!
That is the noblest of all the arts."*—MILTON

ASMUS & CLARK ARCHITECTS.

SYMBOLIZING the rise of the Greater Lipscomb, may the story of the erection of the New Administration Building told on these division pages soon become a reality—and the beginning of a greater reality! Loyal alumni and other believers in Christian building are now busy clearing away the obstacles to the growth of the college and are looking confidently forward to the Greater Lipscomb. Even as the universe discloses a benevolent purpose and a divinely executed plan, so must the Lipscomb of the future rise by vision and plan. Yet great achievements must begin in humble ways—common dirt must be moved, obstacles cleared away, and hard tasks performed seemingly far removed from the “dream school” of the plans. And then the foundations must be laid on the bedrock broad and sure, the bedrock of the Book. Brick upon brick the walls must rise as the builders contribute their shares, small, perhaps, but “whose sum is vast, whose effects are enduring.” Soon the building can take form, for the workers are confident that they are “builders with God.” At length the vision may stand achieved. Lipscomb’s Nehemiah, President Ijams, and his assistants are summoning out the latent might of Christian builders.

*“They dreamt not of a perishable home,
Who thus could build.”*

LIPSCOMB, 32; Y. M. H. A. PEPS, 29

December 4, 1935, at Y. M. H. A., Nashville

The Bisons opened their season with a 32-29 victory over the Y. M. H. A. Peps of the City League. Cantrell and Baskette led the scoring with 6 each, while Edwards' defensive work was brilliant. Lipscomb showed a well-balanced, hard-fighting team that deserved to win.

LIPSCOMB, 44; HARDING, 28

December 14, 1935, at Home

For the first time in history the Lipscomb squad defeated Harding College of Searcy, Ark., by a 44-28 score. Harding's Trent brothers were excellent ball handlers, but the Bisons, led by "Fluke" Baskette, turned on the scoring heat to surpass the Harding team, which likewise bears the name Bisons.

LIPSCOMB, 59; FLORENCE TEACHERS, 33

December 18, 1935, at Home

Playing without three regulars who were temporarily ineligible, Lipscomb rang up its high scoring mark for the season in a 59-33 victory over Florence. Donaldson, with 19, paced the pointmakers for the evening. Sutton turned in a good game at guard.

LIPSCOMB, 40; WESTERN KENTUCKY TEACHERS, 50

January 6, 1936, at Home

Displaying a wonderful team, the Teachers from Bowling Green walked off and left the Bisons in the first half despite the excellent long shots of Sutton. Baskette staged a one-man rally in the last half, but Western was too far ahead.

LIPSCOMB, 24; CARTER SHOE COMPANY, 39

January 8, 1936, at Home

Playing against one of the best independent teams in the city, the Bisons went down by a 15-point margin. Donaldson and Sutton scored 7 each for a lost cause.

LIPSCOMB, 31; FLORENCE TEACHERS, 36

January 11, 1936, at Home

After leading practically all the way the Bisons lost their third straight game, in spite of the stellar work of Baskette, who scored 11 points. Florence staged a last three-minute rally to win.

LIPSCOMB, 22; AUSTIN PEAY NORMAL, 19

January 14, 1936, at Clarksville

Lipscomb returned to winning ways after a layoff of three games to beat Austin Peay in their gym by a three-point margin. Vann led the Bisons in scoring with 7 points.

LIPSCOMB, 39; FREED-HARDEMAN, 38

January 18, 1936, at Home

During the worst snow of the winter Lipscomb played its best basketball game to defeat Freed-Hardeman for the first time in any branch of athletics. The game was nip and tuck all the way, with Lipscomb winning on a free throw by Cantrell in the last twenty seconds after Vann had tied the game with a field goal. Charley Love found the basket for 13 points.

LIPSCOMB, 38; BETHEL, 35

January 23, 1936, at McKenzie

In a game which was marred by the calling of 48 fouls Lipscomb defeated Bethel 38-35 in the first game of a three-day jaunt into West Tennessee. Lipscomb finished the game with four men on the floor. Love led the scoring with 13.

LIPSCOMB, 35; U. T. JUNIOR COLLEGE, 57

January 24, 1936, at Martin

The Junior Vols showed a well-balanced team that scored practically at will to hand the Bisons their worst defeat of the season, 57-35. Baskette's 13 points were in vain against the Junior Vols' scoring parade.

January 25, 1936, at Henderson

The loss of Captain Edwards early in the second half because of excessive fouling caused the Bisons' defense to go awry after a brilliant first half during which the score was tied. Don Hamilton's 16 points helped Freed-Hardeman pull away.

LIPSCOMB, 32; CUMBERLAND, 28

February 3, 1936, at Home

Led by Vann the Bisons overcame a half-time deficit of 7 points to beat Cumberland 32-28. Edwards' defensive work shone brightly.

LIPSCOMB, 34; FLORENCE TEACHERS, 28

February 4, 1936, at Home

The Bisons made their first out-of-state trip to defeat Florence Teachers 34-28. Marshall Donaldson, who was substituted in the first half, found the basket for 17 points. He seemed to be at his best always against Florence.

LIPSCOMB, 32; UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE, 45

February 8, 1936, at Home

The University of Louisville of the S. I. A. A. ran up 12 points before Lipscomb ever registered, but thereafter the Bisons held them about even, losing 45-32. Vann, Donaldson, and Edwards shone for the Bisons.

LIPSCOMB, 56; AUSTIN PEAY NORMAL, 18

February 11, 1936, at Home

With Baskette and Vann scoring 25 points between them, the Bisons buried Austin Peay Normal under a 56-18 score. Sutton, Edwards, and Cantrell starred on the defense. The entire team looked as though they were in a scrimmage or signal drill.

LIPSCOMB, 28; FLORENCE TEACHERS, 40

February 14, 1936, at Florence, Ala.

Although the Pep Squad went along to add moral support, the Bisons went down before a lucky Florence aggregation 40-28. Elbur Baskette, playing his last game for Lipscomb, staged a one-man last-half rally, but his efforts were in vain—the Bisons were too far behind.

LIPSCOMB, 39; CUMBERLAND, 42

February 17, 1936, at Lebanon

The Bisons, playing without the services of Edwards, Baskette, and Sutton, who were dismissed from the squad, showed the effect of their loss by losing to an inferior Cumberland team 42-39 in an extra period. Love, with 9, led the Lipscomb scorers.

LIPSCOMB, 37; BETHEL, 40

February 22, 1936, at Home

The Bisons closed their season losing to Bethel on the home floor by a 40-37 score. The Lipscomb boys held the lead until the last few minutes, but Bethel rallied to beat them. Donaldson closed his collegiate career by scoring 13 points. Vann, Cantrell, Porter, Crockett, and Keiffer also closed their junior college basketball careers with this game.

POLYAX CLUB

THE Polyax Club was organized in the year '34-'35 and for sometime was without a name. After being known as Group No. 1 for several weeks the club chose the name "Polyax." This name, submitted by Charles R. Brewer, signifies "many activities."

Elam Kuykendall and Claude Harris, both seniors, were elected president and vice president, respectively; Currie Mitchell, a sophomore, was elected secretary, and Philip Cullum, a junior, was to serve as the club's treasurer.

Four contests were held that year and the Polyax were winners in three, losing the athletic contest in a close battle.

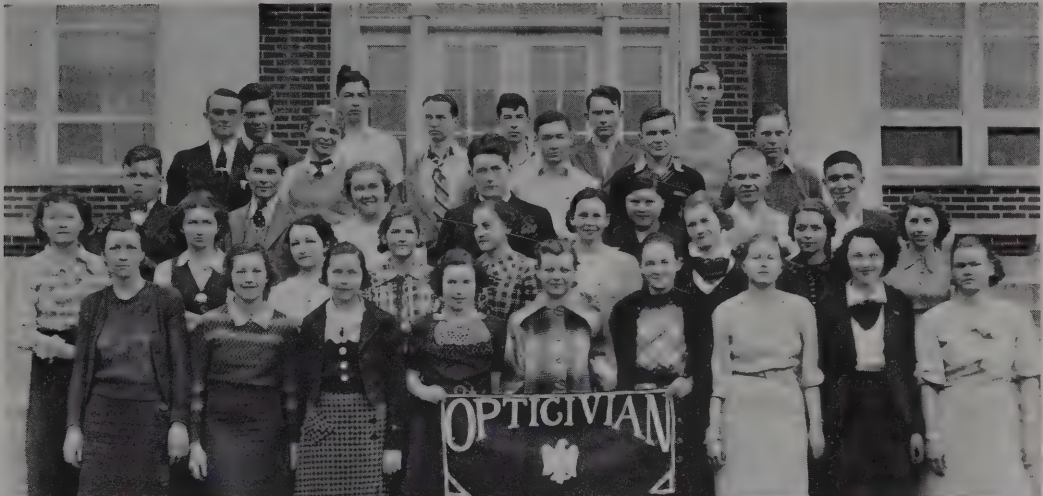

The year '35-'36 saw Philip Cullum as president; George Cooper, vice president; Currie Mitchell, secretary; and Paul Boyce, treasurer.

Several contests were held, and the Polyax won one, lost one, and tied one. The programs, in the main, are entered into with a fine spirit and all the members of the club have shown the club's spirit in their activities.

OPTICIVIAN CLUB

THE Optician Club is one of the two major societies of our high school, the other being the Polyax Club. Mr. Hamrick had conceived the idea that school activities in which good clean competition was encouraged went hand in hand with growth, development, and education and were a necessary part of every young person's life. The result of this reasoning, therefore, culminated in the organization last year of these societies.

During 1935 the two clubs engaged in four competitive exercises: An oratorical contest, plays, field meet, and debate. The Polyax Club won all of these engagements except the field meet.

The first competition this year was an amateur contest in which the clubs tied for honors. The second contest consisted of declamations from representatives of both clubs. Results: A Polyax victory. Following this came the plays. This was a contest between the girls, and the Optician Club won. However, in all of its competition the representatives of this club did not seem to care for the honor that came with victory, but were only concerned in doing their parts well and carrying the spirit of the club in all their activities.

FOR the first time in the history of the school David Lipscomb organized a separate club for the high school day students. The first High School Nashville Club was organized with Larry Williams as president; Jesse Wakefield, vice president; Norman Dozier, treasurer; Freda Clayton, secretary; Bill Sweatt, sergeant-at-arms; M. E. Berryhill, sponsor.

As a group, they planned to sponsor the fencing of the athletic field in order to add privacy to the drills and make it possible to control the admission price to our many contests.

The club showed fine spirit in its first year of existence, and promises to be one of the school's outstanding clubs next year.

THE M. M. D. Club, which was organized in 1934, is composed of the dormitory high school girls. The club holds its meetings on Friday nights. Its motto is "No Demerits," and its colors are blue and white.

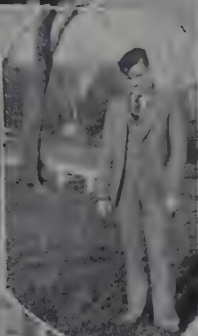

One of the aims of the club is to develop talent. Programs are given at every meeting and the programs are varied.

The club gave two parties and one sunrise breakfast in this year's program.

BASKETBALL TEAM

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again"—an old admonition that must have stood foremost in the minds of the Lipscomb Mustangs as they launched their 1935-36 basketball campaign. For two years they had rested in the mire of defeat and oblivion, only to rise to heights never previously attained and present the most startling performances in David Lipscomb's athletic career. Those Wild Ponies turned truly wild and chalked up twenty-one wins with only seven defeats recorded against them.

There are three high lights of the Mustang's current campaign that stand predominant: The successful invasion of Guntersville, Alabama; their advance to the finals of the district tournament; and their remarkable showing in the regional tourney at Murfreesboro.

The team was a figurative "giant killer," defeating institutions ten times its size in the city and invading smaller towns only to return with more laurels. It defeated the ever-strong Cornersville High for the first time in school history. In Late January the Mustangs journeyed to Guntersville, Alabama, in a ten-inch snow, and there a weary and travel-sore band met and conquered the formidable aggregation of Marshall County High.

In February the Seventh District Tournament rolled around. Lipscomb was ignored by tournament officials in the seeding of teams. In the first round they disposed of the fourth seeded Golden Tornado from Central, and the Mustangs turned to a "dark horse." They ran roughly over Joelton, and in the semi-finals met Du Pont, who had led the Interscholastic League. The Lions from Old Hickory joined their predecessors in the gallery for the remainder of the meet. But the Mustangs' stampede was checked when they faced East in the finals. After a hard-fought contest East emerged with a four-point victory. However, Lipscomb won the right to compete in the regional tournament. Sport scribes placed "Pinky" Lipscomb and Ira Mackie on the all-star team with the former being honored as captain; "Buck" McCord was announced as the leading scorer of the tourney; and Coach Bob Neil was highly praised for his remarkable work.

DAVID LIPSCOMB HIGH SCHOOL had its first football team in history this year and went through a hard schedule with a creditable showing of 4 wins, 4 losses, and 1 tie.

The Mustangs had a very light but scrappy team. In every game without exception they were outweighed. They made up in speed and fight what they lacked in weight.

Winston Neil was elected captain of the team and "Pinky" Lipscomb was made alternate captain. In the first game Captain Neil ran 85 yards for a touchdown for the first victory Lipscomb had ever won on the gridiron.

Ineligibility handicapped the team the entire year. Before the first game was played five promising men were lost. After the second game Captain Neil, Wakefield, and Patterson were declared ineligible. During the season eleven men were lost in this manner and these constituted a great deal of the weight and power both in the line and in the back-field.

Only two of the squad that finished the season were seniors. With fifteen letter men returning next year the Mustangs should have a fine team. Those receiving letters were: Neil, Lipscomb, Cooper, Gunn, Sweatt, S. Brewer, Sears, McCord, Mackie, Williams, Gregory, B. Brewer, Wakefield, Prickett, Burton, and Jackson.

THIS year's baseball team was Lipscomb's first high school team since 1932 and one of the best in its history. With plenty of experienced material from the start Coach Neil put together a team that ranked among the city's best. The Mustangs won their first five games before suffering a defeat.

Plenty of power at the plate and excellent pitching by Williams and Sears were responsible for the team's fine showing. Lipscomb, Sweatt, Terry, Mackie, Harwell, and Prickett were all better than .300 hitters.

The team was composed entirely of sophomores and juniors and all are expected to return next year to form an even better team. Letters were awarded to the following players: Williams, Lipscomb, Sears, Sweatt, Terry, Mackie, Gunn, Harwell, Gregory, and Prickett.

DAVID LIPSCOMB COLLEGE

Fills a Real Educational Need

David Lipscomb College will begin its forty-fifth session September 18. The next session will open with the largest faculty and the richest curriculum in the history of this institution. For this continual growth there is adequate reason.

David Lipscomb College fills a real educational need.

Starts the Student Right

One of the greatest needs in higher education is the right start. The bulk of college failures come during the first year. Frequently students fail to find in institutions of higher learning the understanding and guidance they need.

David Lipscomb College seeks to start every student right and help him succeed in the best sense. The importance of the right start is incalculable.

Strives for Strong Personality

Another educational need is balanced development. David Lipscomb College seeks to make the most of the mental, moral, and spiritual possibilities in every student. Every one receives daily instruction in the world's greatest moral and spiritual volume—the Bible. Every teacher is a counselor, as well as instructor. This makes for soundness of character and strength of personality.

Maximum Service at Minimum Cost

Accommodations and instruction are unexcelled at David Lipscomb College, but necessary expenses are low. (You get more than your money's worth at David Lipscomb College.)
